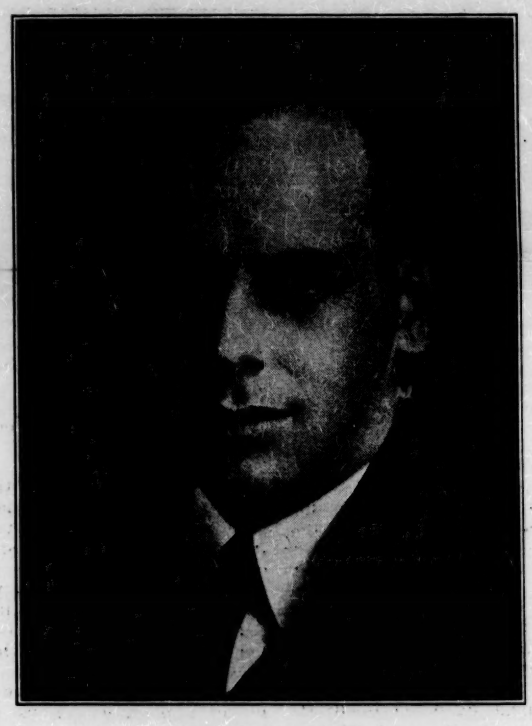
Patches - Printing - Propaganda

The department we write about this month is the least seen and the most heard-of of any department at Barium. It is really the mouthpiece, sending out to the friends of Barium, news of the family, news about our needs, and a good part of it devoted to thanks for deeds done.

The mouthpiece and the shoe repair department. You may ask what connections they have with each other? All we can say is that it's just accidental, like the hoof and mouth disease of cattle. It so happens that the man in charge of our printing office started out as the man in charge of the shoe repair department, and was promoted to take charge of both.

The printing office was started back in 1923, following a very generous gift from Mr. James Sloan, of Winston-Salem, now of California. He followed his gift a year later by furnishing the printing office with a linotype machine. During the interval, we had published The Messenger with hand-set type. The boys that did the typesetting were green, and that type had the most perverse way of getting upside down, or spelling words wrong, and those Messengers of that first year contain more misspelled words than any other publication in America! The linotype vastly improved things. It seemed to know how to spell, and our paper commenced to look up. We started out with a mailing list of 10,000. This grew through the years until it had reached 16,000, but there was always something the matter with that mailing list, until Mr. Milton came four years ago, and under his magic touch things commenced to happen. He discovered approximately 3,000 names on the mailing list that were dead names. Either the people had died or had moved and left no address; and those papers were just being wasted. All of these names were purged, correct addresses inserted where possible, and new names added, until now there are 22,000 live names on our mailing list.

The present force of the printing office is the foreman, Mr. Kyles, who came to work at Barium seven years ago. At the present time, he has under him, a force of seven boys for handling both printing office and the shoe shop. There are three seniors, one sophomore,



EDWIN K. KYLES

Above is a photograph of the man who is responsible for the repairing of shoes and for all the printed material that leaves the Orphanage. It's rare that an efficient combination man can be found to supervise two departments, but Mr. Kyles is such a man. When you see anything that comes out of the printing office you can rest assured that Mr. Kyles has not only had a finger in it, but ten fingers. He sees, too, that the necessary leather stands between the feet of the children and the ground.

one freshman and two youngsters from the grades. These last two are too small to be even Printer's Devils; they are Printer's Imps. The seniors operate the linotype machine, and the big press. The others assist materially in folding and the multitudinous other jobs that come up in a printing office. As a matter of fact, it is one person's full time job to keep the mailing list in order. 22,000 names set up in type makes an imposing stack of metal. It weighs well over a thousand pounds.

There are at least 100 changes of address each month. And then, quite often, a whole section of a county will be changed from one rural route to another. Sometimes a city will change its methods of distribution, which calls for the revision of all the names in that city. One time a boy dropped a galley with some 500 names in it, and maybe that wasn't trouble.

These changes on the mailing list which happen so frequently are mostly caused by people moving, and such a surprisingly few think to notify us of their change of address. It is such a pity. A one cent postal card notifying us of change of address will save us at least double that expense. When a person moves and does not notify us, that Post Office will finally do so, and it will cost us two cents to find it out. Which we have to pay whether we like it or not.

We don't want to talk too much about The Messenger which is the big job of the printing office. There are other publications. Our little church bulletins—300 per week—a calendar, 1200 per week; an Annual, our most ambitious job, published every spring by the senior class and financed by that organization. Letterheads, programs, reprints, pamphlets, tickets for various games and entertainment, school supplies, forms for card index system, health reports, school reports—altogether about 400,000 impressions a year.

A number of people have had a hand in developing our printing office. The late John A. Brady of Statesville, through his advice and help in getting us started, was a most valuable friend. James Sloan, the man for whom our athletic field is named, is the Patron Saint. He has furnished the equipment for our entire set-up. Mr. A. P. Edwards was the first foreman of the print shop, and spent six very useful years there. He was succeeded by our present, most efficient manager,

THANKSGIVING EMPHASIS ENLISTS MANY PEOPLE

Work of Local Workers Augmented by Enthusiastic Efforts of Many Outsiders

We don't like to use that word "campaign" and yet that is the word given to it by so many folks that we are using it even if we don't like it. It is the business of bringing the Orphanage and its needs to the entire Church. This is done every year. It is a tremendous undertaking. A lot of people have a hand in it. This year, for the first time, Synod has appointed a committee which joins with the Presbytery's committees and have a working organization in each Presbytery. These men and women have performed their duties faithfully. A number, in an outstanding way. They have written letters; they have held meetings; they have made presentations; so that the message of the Orphanage has reached practically every Church and community in the Synod.

It is too soon to even estimate the results of their labors, because as this is written, just the first trickle of the Thanksgiving Offerings have commenced to come in. It will be the middle of December before the flow even reaches full tide. But, the Campaign as a camgaign, is over at this time. The results are in the hands and hearts of the people of the Synod.

We at the Orphanage are most deeply grateful to every one who has had a hand in carrying on this work. We are grateful for more than one reason. We could not exist and carry on the work without this help. And then, having a hand in it seems to make closer friends of those participating. We have seen people who at the start, knew very little about the Orphanage, and were lukewarm in their friendships, who after serving on one of these Committees, and necessarily learning more about the Institution, coming in actual contact with the members of this big family, that, have become most ardent and sympathetic friends. We are grateful for that. We are grateful for still another thing: They have carried the name of the Orphanage to hundreds and thousands of people wo might never have heard of it; and it has given them an opportunity to become part of it, and we think this is one of the finest and most enduring services that could be rendered this great work. It would indeed be a tragedy if, as the old friends of the Orphanage pass out of the picture, there were no new friends growing up to take their places. We feel that the Committee and other friends who have helped have brought into the Orphanage fold new friends to help carry on in years to come.

We who work at the Orphanage have done our bit in helping these various Committees. Representatives from the Orphanage have appeared in churches, before Auxiliaries, and Committee meetings, for forty-one appointments, a total mileage of 5,800 miles. In fact, the Sundays during November have so many of the Staff away filling appointments, that it was noticeable in our Sunday School

Any More?

Two Sunday Schools have recently joined the ranks of regular contributors to the Orphanage. One is Smithfield Sunday School in Granville Presbytery. It has adopted either the Offering-per-month plan or an Offering every quarter. This hasn't been definitely ascertained. The other is Mount Vernon Springs Sunday School in Orange Presbytery, which will hereafter send the Orphanage $1.50 every two months. Give these Sunday Schools a hand, as the saying goes.

Bulletin

On December 15th, the day when the press started turning to print the December issue of The Messenger, a total of $34,606.04 had been received as 1936 Thanksgiving Offering, with 287 complete reports in hand and a great many partially completed. The Offering lacked $9,845.52 of being as great as the final 1935 aggregate of $44,454.56, and gifts were still being received in a brisk fashion.

Of the completed reports, 207 churches had given more than in 1935, with only 80 churches falling below last year's Offerings. In the majority of instances those 80 declines were small, and many decreases were less than $1.00. There were 75 churches on December 15th that had given the greatest Offerings of the past 12 years, and many of these increases were extraordinarily great.

Albemarle and Kings Mountain Presbyteries were the only two that had surpassed the 1935 final on December 15th.

Below is a tabulation of the gifts, by Presbyteries, that had arrived when The Messenger went to press:

Presbytery	Amount
Albemarle	$ 2,723.40
Concord	8,020.64
Fayetteville	3,444.37
Granville	1,882.16
Kings Mountain	3,065.36
Mecklenburg	6,215.05
Orange	5,086.68
Wilmington	1,320.94
Winston-Salem	2,846.94
Total	$34,606.04

FOOTBALL SEASON AT BARIUM SUCCESSFUL

Several Teams of Different Weights Turn in Impressive Performances This Fall

Generally, when people ask any of us "how are things at Barium Springs?" We have found out that generally they are asking about the financial condition, possibly 90% have that in mind. The other 10% — especially if they are younger friends of the Institution — are asking "How are the teams coming on?" It is to satisfy that 10% that this particular article is being written. Barium in September started its 15th year in football. During those fifteen years, she has built up a reputation, established traditions, acquired a Code of Ethics, and is as wellknown in athletic circles as the Institution is known in Welfare Circles.

The young crowd of warriors who volunteer for football each fall, have quite a responsibility on their shoulders. They are determined that Barium's reputation shall not suffer during their term of "wearing of the Gold".

Barium gets out three distinct football teams. With even a smaller group occasionally having games, but not having a regular schedule. They are: The Varsity; 125-pound team; the 100-pound team; and an occasional game with the 80-pound team.

Their record at this time (for the year) is complete. We will give it to you, commencing with the smallest, and working up.

The 80-pounders had two games. Both with the Children's Home of Winston-Salem. The first game was won by the Children's Home, 26-12. The second, by Barium, 12-8. And in this second game the Barium team displayed a wonderful come-back. The Children's Home acquired their eight points before Barium scored, and it was a great determination that spurred these midgets to victory. Their last touchdown being made with just two minutes still to go.

The 100-pound team won a State Championship. Playing 14 games, all together, against the toughest sort of opposition, winning thir-

MANY OLD-TIMERS VISIT BARIUM ON NOVEMBER 20

Home-Coming Day Is Always A High Spot of The Fall.— Approximately 200 Present

Home-Coming Day is getting to be quite an institution at Barium. It started a number of years ago, and the day was set during the Christmas holidays. Those first few Home-Coming Days were marked by the most terrible weather that you can imagine. It would commence raining about two days before the day set, and work up to a climax on the day of the gathering. In spite of this, quite a respectable number would show up each Home-Coming Day. At first, the Orphanage folks planned the day, and arranged the details, but as more and more of the old-timers began to show up, they took a larger and larger hand in arrangment. It was not long before they insisted that they be permitted to see some of the famous Barium Springs football games. So Home-Coming Day was set on a day of a big game. Usually around Thanksgiving.

The schedule makers try to pick out their toughest opponent for the that day, and the event became more and more popular. Then, another question came up. So many of the Barium graduates worked in retail establishments that are particularly busy on Saturdays, and they are unable to come to a Home-Coming Day set on Saturday. On the other hand, an equally large number have their holidays on Saturdays and can not come any other day in the week. It is very difficult to arrange a Home-Coming Day to suit all parties. So this idea has prevailed in recent years: One year, Home-Coming Day will be set on Friday; and the next year, on Saturday. In this way, giving everybody an opportunity to get to a Home-Coming Day once every two years, at least.

This year, the date set was Friday, November the 20th, and the weather was so different from those earlier Home-Coming Days. It was bright, sunshiny, with enough of a zip to the temperature to make everybody feel good and to give them a whale of an appetite. If you don't believe it, ask the Dining Room crowd!

Some of the Old-Timers commenced to float in the day before. Eli Morris from way out in Chattanooga, and then early Friday morning, the real ingathering commenced. From the real old-timers like Rowland Ferguson of Charlotte, on down to members of the graduating class of 1936. The Class of 1924 attempted to have a reunion, and while there was much correspondence and stirring of hearts, only three finally showed up.

Erwin Jackins, President of the Alumni Association, had been ill for the best part of a month, but the enthusiasm of Home-Coming Day just pulled him right out of bed and he presided at all of the meetings. The Secretary, Hilda Bernardo, of Charlotte, has done her work so well that in a few years, the number of Home-Comers will match the number of stay-at homes; and then, some of us may have to eat at the second table on Home-Coming Day!

It is difficult to list the exact number that returned. An endeavor was made to get everyone to register, and a count was made of

Notice

Attention is called to all organizations that the tabulation of gifts appearing in this month's issue of The Messenger includes only those gifts which were received at the Orphanage on or before November 30th. Contributions received at Barium on December 1st or thereafter will appear in the January issue of the paper.

Mr. Kyles. With him as foreman, and Mr. Milton as associate editor, our publications have entered into a new and livelier era, and too much can not be said of the faithful performance of these two men.

The boys that work in the printing office are scheduled on a different arrangement from the other departments. For instance, the boys that are shifted from the dairy to the farm, or from the truck farm to the mechanical department, give them a varied experience; whereas, the boys that go to the printing office are there for a "life sentence", so to speak. Their work calls for so much detailed training that it is impossible to get this over in a brief time, and they spend their entire training period in the shop.

These boys that finish from the Printing Office seem to have no difficulty in securing work. They are scattered about over the country now as linotype operators, printers, and one has even risen to a professorship in one of our Southern Universities. Their work is tedious and calls for patience, and quite often they have to deny themselves the pleasures that other boys have. For instance, during some of our big football games at home, we get out an extra, ready for distribution immediately following the game. Part of the printing office crew has to stay and set up the account of the game as it is brought in to them paragraph by paragraph, and a few minutes after the game is over, the paper goes to press. Naturally, they do not get to see any of the games which they are just as interested in as the rest of us.

The shoe shop is another interesting department. It just does repair work, and it is rather seasonal in this work. In the summer time the work drops to 20 pairs of shoes a week. In the winter, it jumps up to 50 a week. Quite a noticeable change takes place when Synod Cottage dons footwear. This is only for three months in the year. They think it is sissy to put on shoes before the first of December, and imagine that a person would need to be an invalid that wore shoes after the first of March. And on the least provocation, even in December, January and February, they are liable to shuck shoes and throw snowballs in the natural, and their harrassed matron has to send out searching parties to retrieve this discarded footwear before nightfall.

As organized now, the shoe shop works two days a week. Tuesdays and Wednesdays. Shoes come from all the cottages on Monday, and are back in service within twenty-four hours. In the worst part of the winter, those same shoes may return in four weeks. The average is a little longer than that. The boys who assist in the printing office, operate the shoe repairing machines under Mr. Kyles' direction. Some of them become quite proficient in this, and do a splendid job, and this is a stepping stone to a pay check when leaving the Orphanage, if no printing job is open. So far, the demand for good print-shop hands has exceeded the supply.

We are apt to forget the shoe shop and the print-shop, especially in pretty weather when we don't need so many shoes. We take the print shop for granted, and it is only when we remember conditions before we had that that we really appreciate it. Before we had this shop, we were like a man with a gag in his mouth trying to swim a big stream, needing help and surrounded with people who wanted to help him, but unable to attract their attention. The printing office took the gag off. Maybe some of our friends wish we could put it back occasionally, but be that as it may, the printing office opens the door of opportunity to the thousands of friends of this institution. Without it, we fear we might be forgotten. It tells something of the happy life here at Barium. It tells of our tragedies, and of our successes. We think that not only do our publications reflect the life of this big family here, but that it also carries with it something of the character of the people who work with it.

We are delighted to do honor in this brief article, to those faithful men and boys who have made our printing office such a vital part of our lives. We couldn't get along without them, and are proud to tell you about them through the very paper that they make possible.

Under Mr. Kyles' direction, the Shoe Shop has taken on two additional jobs. By having the hides from our own cattle tanned on shares, we have enough harness leather available to keep all the harness in repair, on the farm, truck farm and orchards.

The other job is repairing the equipment for the athletic team, and that is quite some job. A football player wears almost as much leather as he does clothes.

One day, one of the Baby Cottagers who had just learned to recognize his name in print, happened to run across that name on a linotype line which was on its way to the melting pot. That particular instance caused a heavy raid on the pot by the other Baby Cottagers, and now it has to be guarded when they visit the Shoe Shop!

A chicken was killed several years ago, and it had on its body a very plainly defined letter. It looked like one of those unexplained mysteries like writings on eggshells and such, until it was discovered that one of the boys had taken a handful of type for sling shot ammunition, and it finally wound up by that initial on that chicken solving two mysteries!

One spring the shoe shop manager was very much mystified by having all of his thread disappear. He couldn't imagine why. He had noticed some time later, however, that the number of kites in the air had multiplied tremendously, and that they were sailing at an unbelievably high altitude. A new lock on the printing office door has solved that particular difficulty.

One of the jobs that the Printing Office has to do, and one in which they are especially proficient, is preparing of programs, menus, and other special things like that for banquets, birthday dinners, parties, or what-have-you. Anybody who has ever attended an athletic banquet, a Hallowe'en party, or a birthday dinner, no doubt carried away one of these very attractive programs in his pocket. The top job of this kind is the one that is prepared for the Civic Clubs' Supper which is usually given early in March.

COTTAGE NEWS

INFIRMARY

We were glad to welcome back to the Infirmary Billy Brock and Herbert McMasters, who have been in the hospital for some time. They are good patients and are on the road to recovery by being so careful not to do the things that are not good for them.

Arabelle Gray, who is with us now had a visit from her Aunt and Uncle last Sunday. Arabelle has also returned from the Hospital where she had a mastoid operation.

We had several visitors Sunday who came to see the sick children, and how we were getting along. I think they must have liked us as they said they were coming back again.

Miss Moore went to Mooresville with a number of others to a Barium Circle meeting at the home of Mrs. Turlington. She enjoyed the trip very much and hospitality of Mrs. Turlington and her circle.

We are sorry to see the frost come for it has taken most of our flowers that were so bright and beautiful. Not only with us but our neighbor's yards have been a riot of color with zinnias, chrysanthemums, dahlias, and marigolds.

ANNIE LOUISE

Dear Friends,

Christmas is almost here and Santa Claus is right around the corner. We have written our letters to Santa and we are looking forward to his coming.

Four of our girls went to the picture show Saturday for making the highest average in school.

Mr. Sams invited us to the picture show Thanksgiving. The picture was about Laurel and Hardy, in "Our Relations." We all want to thank Mr. Sams. We all enjoyed it very much.

On Thanksgiving morning Miss McGoogan came in the playroom with a big box, and guess what was in it? It was thirty-seven nice little packages of delicious candy. The nice ladies in Belmont sent the candy; they have given us a treat at Thanksgiving for the past three years.

We were very glad to have a visit from Miss McGoogan's brother and sister, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. McGoogan of Raeford. They brought us three delicious cakes, and did we enjoy them! I should say we did; hope they will come to see us again and stay longer.

Some of our girls were in a program in Mooresville, Winston and Charlotte. The people in these different places were lovely to them and gave them candy and fruit.

The next time we write we will tell you how good old Santa was to us. Here's wishing one and all a very Happy Christmas.

—Louise Brock

BABY COTTAGE

Well! Well! Here they are, wanting news again. We haven't written any for a month or two so we hardly know where to start, being so many lovely things have been done for us.

Many different friends have remembered us in the last month by sending us: pillow cases, counterpanes, sheets, quilts, scrap books, oranges, candy, cookies, jelly, preserves, cakes, ice-cream, and all kind of nice things to eat.

Part of us have been on trips giving Thanksgiving programs. Miss Taylor and Mama took us to Mooresville to give a program for the Ladies' Auxiliary. We enjoyed the folks just lots and when we left they loaded us down with fruit and candy.

The Sunday before Thanksgiving Miss Northrop and Mama took us to Winston-Salem to put on a program at the First Presbyterian Church, at the kind invitation of Mrs. George Norfleet. Mrs. Norfleet had the entire party at her home for dinner. We had a lovely day and again, as we started home, we were given a bag of mixed fruit and several boxes of candy to be divided among the cottages represented in the program. We came home late that afternoon a tired but happy crowd after a lovely day at Winston.

Mama Girt has been home and spent a week with her new grandson. We missed her while she was gone but enjoyed having Mama O'Kelly stay with us. Aunt Lily went home with Mama but only stayed for the week-end.

We have been invited to a picture or two at the Playhouse, and certainly do thank Mr. Sams for inviting us. Mr. Johnston gave us the pleasure of seeing Shirley Temple in "Dimples".

We are all excited because one day last week we wrote letters to Santa Claus. It takes a long time for all our letters to reach Santa at the North Pole but we think ours got started in time.

Here's wishing you a pleasant Christmas and A Happy New Year for it will be a new year before you hear from us again.

HOWARD

We were glad to see the snow yesterday, but when we had to go to breakfast on the ice this morning we were not so tickled as several of us had some hard falls.

Edith Powell spent last weekend with her uncle in Statesville.

Betty Adams had a visit from her Aunt and Grandmother Saturday.

We thank all the people who made it possible for us to have such a nice Thanksgiving dinner.

Some kind friends from the First Presbyterian Church in Durham brought "The Bean Stringers" a nice Testament each. We appreciate them very much. Everybody enjoyed the lollypops and candy they brought us.

We thank Mr. Sams for inviting us to the movie Thanksgiving afternoon. We are always glad to attend the show.

Mae Allen Barrett's mother from Asheville spent last weekend with her. She brought all of us some cakes.

We are all looking forward to Christmas. We wish all of you could see how happy we are when we gather around our Christmas tree.

The sympathy of the entire Orphanage family - both workers and children - is extended to our pastor, Rev. W. C. Brown, and nurse, Miss Una Moore, in the recent deaths of their brothers. Mr. Brown's brother died in a Florida hospital in November and was buried at High Point, his old home. Miss Moore's brother died suddenly at his home at Palmyra, Nebraska, in December. The hearts of everybody here go out to these devoted servants in these bereavements.

those attending the Alumni meeting, but this does not nearly get them all. Scores come in just for the ball game, and the associations with their friends at that time, and do not register. An estimate puts the number this year at 200, which to our mind, is a conservative estimate. The return of these older members of our family helps us in more ways than you can imagine. It encourages us to see the pleasure that these young people have in seeing each other again, and to see evidences of their affection for their old home here. In addition to that, they are making a very substantial effort in their contributions to the Orphanage, and to the Athletic As-

SYNOD	$2,582.66	$5,272.89	9.7c	34.8c	80c

Here's the November table of receipts, with the first Thanksgiving returns. It is a much better looking arrangement than that for November, 1935, principally because more of the Thanksgiving Offering had arrived by November 30th. The regular giving is under that of November a year ago, though the Synod still has an increase of $1,417.50 in its regular giving at the conclusion of the eighth month. The total regular giving since the new year started last April is $22,884.82. Adding the Thanksgiving Offering of $5,272.89 makes a grand total of $28,157.71.

There was a scramble in the standing of the Presbyteries during November, though Winston-Salem, Mecklenburg and Fayetteville Presbyteries maintained their respective berths of first, sixth and ninth. Switching of positions took place between Concord and Albemarle, Orange and Kings Mountain, and Wilmington and Granville. The first named of each of these three groups displaced the other as can be seen by the comparative tabulation below, which shows the standing a year ago, last month and at the conclusion of November:

Winston-Salem	1st	1st	1st
Concord	2nd	3rd	2nd
Albemarle	4th	2nd	3rd
Orange	3rd	5th	4th
Kings Mountain	5th	4th	5th
Mecklenburg	6th	6th	6th
Wilmington	7th	8th	7th
Granville	9th	7th	8th
Fayetteville	8th	9th	9th

Watch the January issue of The Messenger for the December tabulation and see how badly scrambled that standing will be. Just what advancement or backward march is made will be largely determined by the manner in which the emphasis was placed on the 1936 Thanksgiving Offering, for the majority of the Offering will arrive at Barium by December 31st.

FOOTBALL SEASON

teen, tieing one.

This team played one game at Oxford, and in the afternoon of that day, saw the State-Carolina game at Chapel Hill.

The 125-pound team had a tough schedule. They defeated twice, the following teams: Kannapolis, Concord, Statesville; and defeated Newton once, and the Oxford Orphanage varsity once.

This team undoubtedly has some sort of a record. It has not been defeated in eight years, and is willing to take on almost anybody. Just call 'em a "125-pound team" and they'll beat 'em. They really play as good ball as the varsity, and sometimes are slipped in a varsity game without the other team ever knowing a supposedly weaker team is against them.

Now, for the Varsity. The season started out in playing Mooresville, which Barium defeated 39-0, on September the 18th. The following week, Barium played in Charlotte against Central High, officially opening the Municipal Stadium there. Again Barium was victorius, defeating Charlotte, 12-6. You may recall that since that time, Charlotte has won the State Class-A Championship! Which is not unusual. This is the fourth time that Barium has defeated the team that ultimately became Champions. One year it was Concord; one year it was Reidsville; and once it was Belmont Abbey. Belmont Abbey winning the Junior College Championship.

On October the second, the hardest game of the season was played on Sloan Field, with Barium being defeated by the Children's Home 13-7. This is the nearest to a defeat that the Children's Home has suffered in several years. Two weeks later, October the 16th, Barium defeated Concord on a very wet field, 38-0. Then, on October the 23rd, in Thomasville, Barium suffered a second defeat. The Mills Home taking our team into camp 16-0.

On October the 30th, Barium defeated Kannapolis, 19-6. This was one of the best games of the season.

November the 6th, the big annual struggle between Barium and Statesville took place, but unfortunately this year, Statesville was so weak that the the game was really not as interesting as other games. The final score was Barium 64; Statesville 0.

On November 13th Hickory was the opponent, and evidently the combination of "Friday, the 13th" was too much for Hickory, for the score was: Barium 38; Hickory 0.

Then, on Home-Cominig Day, November the 20th, Albemarle, a new team on Barium's schedule came to try conclusions. The final score was: Barium 26; Albemarle 12. But Albemarle was a team that refused to acknowledge defeat, until the final whistle; and the way they threw passes and bucked the line, kept anybody from feeling safe about that game until it was over. Albemarle is proving to be one of the best teams in the South Piedmont Conference.

The last game of the current season was played in Lexington on Friday, December the fourth. This game was twice postponed. It was due to have been played on October the 9th, and then again on December the second. When the two teams finally got together, they both showed the results of too long a lay-off.

They were not quite as alert as their former games have evidence of. Nevertheless, it was a most interesting game. It finally resulted in a scoreless tie. And allowed Lexington to wind up its regular season without a defeat. While Barium's was marred by two defeats and one tie.

Willard Drye pulled a most unusual play in this game. Going back to knock down a pass, thrown by Lexington, he stumbled and fell; and it looked as though the pass would certainly be completed for a touchdown. Drye practically stood on his head and reached up with his toe to knock the pass down, and saved the game!

Now since the season is over we can look back and check up a little bit. At least 80 boys participate in football. It is a game that a good many people are afraid of on account of injuries; and yet, we find that there are fewer injuries during the football season than during the other part of the year when the recreation of the children is not so carefully supervised.

One dislocated collar bone, and one broken finger is the sum of the casualties for this year.

This article is intended to be news — not philosophy — and yet we can not help but point out what we believe to be one of the graded system of playing.

We do not permit a small, immature boy to play against a heavier, maturer boy, until he has thoroughly learned the principals of protecting himself.

The 80-pound team plays against teams in its own weight, with an occasional scrimmage against the 100-pound team. There being a 20-pound difference there. The 100-pound team plays against teams its own weight, and occasionally, scrimmage under careful supervision, with the 125-pound team.

The 125-pound team is the Chopping-Block for our Varsity. And they get so tough playing boys who are just a few pounds heavier, that is one reason they are so good. When they graduate from the 125-, they are full-fledged members of the varsity, and go up against the toughest opposition in the State. They suffer very few injuries; they give a good account of themselves, and thoroughly enjoy the game.

We know, from observing other teams, that boys of as great inherent ability are often injured because they are put into football without this earlier preliminary training.

We are proud of football at Barium. We like to see our teams play. We know that they will generally bring home the victory; but that on the few occasions when they are defeated, it is because they have met a superior team, and have gone down with colors flying!

As this written, Girls Basketball is starting. There has been several series of games between high school classes, and indications point to an interesting basketball season, after the Christmas holidays.

The varsity football scores of the past season follow:

Barium 39, Mooresville 0.
Barium 12, Charlotte 6.
Barium 7, Children's Home 13.
Barium 38, Concord 0.
Barium 0, Mills Home 16.
Barium 19, Kannapolis 6.
Barium 64, Statesville 0.
Barium 38, Hickory 0.

Jackins - Northrop Engagement Is Announced

From The Statesville Daily.

Announcement of the engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Laura Northrop, teacher in the school at the Barium Springs orphanage, and Mr. R. E. Jackins, supervisor of boys at the orphanage. was made Thursday evening, December 3rd, when Miss Rebekah Carpenter was hostess to a large group of the orphanage workers.

Forty-eight guests were invited by the hostess to an informal Christmas party at the school building. A variety of contests furnished diversion throughout the evening. The announcement came when the guests were invited for refreshments. Centering the main table was a bridal scene, complete in detail—with doll bride and bridegroom before a tiny flower-bedecked altar. Ices were molded in the shape of wedding bells and slippers and on each plate was a heart-shaped card, bearing the initials of the bride and bridegroom-elect and the wedding date. Mints and salted nuts were served with the ice course.

Miss Northrop and Mr. Jackins are to be married two days before Christmas—December 23. The marriage will be solemnized in Little Joe's church, Barium Springs.

The above announcement party, as recounted in The Statesville Daily, will be of interest to hundreds of people. Miss Northrop is a native of St. Pauls and is teaching in the primary department of the secular schools for the third successive year and is in charge of the Glee Club and Choir at the Orhanage. Mr. Jackins is a native of Charlotte, and is in charge of the dairy, assists in athletics, and has general supervision of the boys' cottages.

You Send 'Em, We'll Use 'Em

It has come to the ears of Orphanage officials that an erroneous statement has been made that the institution does not need quilts. This is to correct that. The Orphanage needs the quilts. It takes approximately 1,000 quilts in real cold weather, and occasionally a few extra besides those, and quilts are always wearing out. You send 'em, we'll use 'em.

and Church Work at Barium.

These appointments bring us into contact with church members and other friends of the institution, and is most enjoyable, but we heave a sigh of relief when it is over. Sunday is such a delightful day at Barium. It is a day when we can be informal, when we don't have to rush from one engagement to another. When we have time just to talk to the children, and to listen to them. We sometimes think that the only day in the week that we really get to live is Sunday. The rest of the time is so taken up with necessary duties, and there is so much to be done! It is certainly the day that we get acquainted with each other more than any other; and now, since the campaign for 1936 is over, we again take up the delightful routine of these stay at home Sundays, and talk over the many kind and neighborly things that we have experienced at your hands this season.

S. S. Meals

For the second month in succession the gifts from Sunday Schools have been less than the corresponding month a year ago. Prior to the October Offerings a six-month record of consecutive increases had been chalked up. However, despite the setbacks of the past two months, the Sunday Schools still maintain a lead of $1,101.20 over the total Offerings for the same period of 1935-1936, and could consequently have served 11,012 more meals in that time. The comparative meal-record for the past three years is as follows:

Month	'34-'35	'35-'36	'36-'37
